

SAKSHI HARJANI

MCA – Artificial Intelligence | Python Intern | Full-Stack Developer
+91-7863009570 | harjanimuskan535@gmail.com | Godhra, Gujarat – 389001 | LinkedIn Profile

EDUCATION

|                                                                                                      |             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| M.C.A. – Artificial Intelligence   Parul University (PICA)CGPA: 8.15 / 10                 | 2024 – 2026 |
| B.C.A. – Artificial Intelligence   Parul Institute of Computer ApplicationCGPA: 7.17 / 10 | 2021 – 2024 |
| 12th – GSEB   Chanakya Jr. College, Godhra                                                    | 2021        |
| 10th – GSEB   Rotary English Medium High School, Godhra                                       | 2019        |

INTERNSHIP EXPERIENCE

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                         |                     |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---------------------|
| Python Intern   MD Infotech, Surat                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                               | Dec 2025 – Apr 2026 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Built Zooming-clis, a full-stack LMS replicating Google Classroom using Django and PostgreSQL.</li><li>Implemented role-based access control (teachers, students, admins) with secure Django authentication.</li><li>Developed classroom features: unique join codes, assignment workflows, automated grading, and announcements.</li><li>Integrated Zoom/Google Meet APIs; applied Redis caching and Celery for async task processing.</li></ul> |                     |

PROJECTS

|                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                                   |             |
|-------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Zooming-clis   Academic Major Project – MCA Sem IV   Django · Python · PostgreSQL · Bootstrap 5 · Redis · Celery                                                                                                                                           | 2025 – 2026 |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Full-stack web LMS with MVT architecture; supports desktop, tablet &amp; mobile with responsive design.</li><li>Secured against SQL Injection, CSRF &amp; XSS; developed at MD Infotech under Dr. Abhishek Mehta.</li></ul> |             |
| LifeShare – Organ Donation &amp; Finder   React · Python · Supabase                                                                                                                                                                                        | 2024        |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Platform connecting organ donors with recipients using React frontend and Supabase real-time database.</li></ul> Live: organ-donation-and-finder.vercel.app                                          |             |
| OnePharma – Pharmacy Management   PHP · HTML · JavaScript · MySQL                                                                                                                                                                                          | 2023        |
| <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>Pharmacy management system with inventory control, billing, and secure MySQL data transactions.</li></ul>                                                                                                                   |             |

SKILLS

Languages & Frameworks: Python, Django, React, PHP, JavaScript, HTML5, CSS3, Bootstrap 5

Databases & Tools: PostgreSQL, MySQL, SQLite, Supabase, Office 365

Soft Skills: Team Management, Problem Solving, Leadership, Communication

CERTIFICATIONS

|                                                                  |             |
|------------------------------------------------------------------|-------------|
| Certificate of Completion – Java Training                        | 72.50 / 100 |
| Certificate of Completion – Android App Development using Kotlin | 67.50 / 100 |

PERSONAL DETAILS

DOB: 25 January 2004   Gender: Female   Languages: English, Hindi, Gujarati, Sindhi